

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A PROMINENT wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Lizette Wellington Winston, daughter of Mr. Vera H. Lowell, Winston, and grand-daughter of the late Wellington Goddard, to Mr. Edward Byrd McGee, a young business man of Richmond, and nephew of Mr. T. H. Elliott, 807 West Franklin Street. The ceremony was performed at 6:30 P. M. in the Church of the Holy Comforter, the pastor, the Rev. John Halliwell Dickinson, officiating.

The church and altar were fragrant and beautiful with palms and flowers. The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with a long train, and a large veil. The bridesmaids were Misses Nellie Nelson, Wilks, Mary Lancaster Smith, Alice Grey Welch and Bruce Fernyhough, were dressed in white chiffon and lace, yellow girdles with ash ends, and held bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Richard Laws Lee, attorney at law of Baltimore, and a cousin of the groom, was best man. Messrs. Thomas C. McGee, Wellington Goddard, Winston, George K. Harper and Robert Lynch Montague were the groomsmen. Mr. John B. Harvie received the bride.

The bride was escorted to the altar by Mr. T. H. Elliott. The wedding party was entertained in the home of the bride Tuesday evening after the rehearsal. The display of handsome wedding gifts was unusually large. The wedding trip will be an extended Northern tour, after which Mr. and Mrs. McGee will have their home in Richmond.

Out-of-town guests present at the wedding were Mrs. Dunbar Roy, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Raymond, Girard, Kan.; Mr. Milton G. Thompson, Mrs. A. Kirkwood Snyder and Mrs. Alexander Watz, all of Lexington, Ky.

Newton-Watson. At 8:30 o'clock yesterday evening in the Presbyterian Church of Pulaski the wedding of Miss Margaret Howe Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Pelree Watson, of Pulaski, to Mr. Charles Moore Newton, son of the late Bishop and Mrs. John B. Newton, of this city, was celebrated, the Rev. Carl S. Matthews officiating.

The color scheme in house and church decoration was handsomely developed in green and pink. Arches spanned the main aisle of the church, and hundreds of candles were used in illumination. The wedding marches were played by Mr. Hensel Eckman, of Pulaski, and Miss Mary P. Stearnes, of Newport News, and a beautiful solo, "When Thou Art Near," just before the entrance of the bride.

Her father, Mr. David Pelree Watson, gave the bride in marriage. She wore a director's gown of white silk with court train and duchesse lace trimming, a tulle veil, pearl ornaments, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

Miss Alva Watson, the maid of honor, was attired in pink crepe and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Mr. Otway Byrd Newton, of Pulaski, was best man. The bridesmaids, including Miss Gay Robertson, wife of Abingdon; Miss Grace R. Morris, of Lexington; Miss Sarah Archer Bentley, and Miss Emily Purvis, of Pulaski, had on empire frocks of white embroidered net over tulle, empire waists in their hair, and carried bouquets of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

News of the Southside
Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

One of the most peculiar cases which has come under the notice of the police recently, occurred yesterday evening when Reuben Smith, a young white man, walked into the Station House and asked to be locked up. Smith even specified the time, saying that he wanted to stay in jail for ten days.

Captain Lipscomb was astonished, but accommodated the young man and put him behind the bars. Later in the evening Smith became very much offended because Captain Lipscomb wouldn't sit in front of his cell and talk to him. In view of the fact that he voluntarily threw himself up, he thought it only courtesy on the part of the police to entertain him during his stay.

He will appear before the Mayor this morning to answer his charge of drunkenness preferred by himself.

Mr. Bronaugh Declines. Dr. J. W. TEN YOUNG NURSES GRADUATE AT ST. LUKE'S
Dr. W. S. Gordon Addresses Them in Poetry and Prose at Unique Ceremony.

Ten young nurses—the largest number in any class that has gone forth from the hospital—were graduated from St. Luke's Tuesday night, and the occasion was a very delightful one to the young girls and their friends, who were present in large numbers.

The exercises were held in the roof garden over the new annex. The Rev. John H. Dickinson offered prayer. Dr. Stuart McGuire, president of the hospital, made a brief complimentary address and introduced Dr. William S. Gordon, who delivered his address in verse, making many delightful hits and quips at the nurses. Dr. Louisa W. Peale, assistant surgeon at the institution, presided at the banquet, and Dr. McGuire, the great physician of the ancient Greeks. Those who graduated were: Misses Eleanor G. Waynesboro, Rachel Reams, Richmond; Louise Marth, Glade Springs; Della Whitehead, Roseland; Carter, Pulaski; Elizabeth Armistead, Epperville; Lena Blecker, South Boston; Josephine Allen, Spring Garden; Nellie W. Richmond, and Juliette Johnston, Danville.

Stole to Prevent Starvation.
Some time early yesterday morning a car loaded with flour, which was standing on a siding at the Dunlop Mills, was entered and eight bags of flour stolen. The robbery was at once reported to the police, and last night about 11 o'clock Sergeant Wright and Officer Waymack arrested Dillard Pearson, charging him with having committed the theft. Pearson had disposed of the flour, he confessed to the officers that he was guilty. He said he committed the robbery to keep his wife and children from starving, and the condition of affairs at his home on Third Street, where he was arrested, seemed to bear him out. Out of work, and with a wife and four small children to support, the man had, piece by piece, sold his furniture until the rooms were almost bare. As Pearson was locked up, his children are in destitute circumstances, and have no means of earning a livelihood.
